LISTEN AND REVIEW

▶ Host: Let's start by asking Emma what she thinks about public and private transportation. So, Emma, I hear you're firmly against private transportation; may I know the reasons?

▶ Emma: Others believe that using private transport is more convenient and should be encouraged; however, I don't think that is true. First, having a car can be expensive because you need to pay for fuel, maintenance, insurance, and parking. It can be a problem for people who don't have a lot of money. Second, too many cars on the road cause traffic, which can make us late and delay our plans. Lastly, driving can be stressful, especially in unfamiliar places. It can make us tired and worried.

LISTEN AND REVIEW

▶ Host: That's a great perspective, Emma. So Emma thinks we should definitely choose public transportation over private transportation. But it seems that our guest Jack has a different voice towards it. So, Jack, what is your opinion on this topic?

▶ Jack: Public transport is usually considered to be more practical and environment-friendly. I'll say that's not the whole story. Firstly, public transportation might not always be available in all areas, especially outside of cities. Moreover, some buses and trains still use fuels that are not good for the environment. Thirdly, building and taking care of public transportation systems also use a lot of resources.

LISTEN AND REVIEW

- ▶ Host: Thank you, Emma and Jack, for sharing your thoughts on public and private transportation. It's important to think about both sides. Public transportation is good because it's cheaper and better for the environment, but it may not be available everywhere. Private transportation is convenient, but it can be expensive and cause traffic. We need to find a balance in a smarter way. Remember, our choices can make a difference in how we travel and take care of our world. Thank you for joining us today and see you next time in Smart Insights!

Transportation

1. Does your city have a good transportation system?
What could be improved about it?
2. What transportation method will be common
50 years from now?

- Complete the summary of the essay.

In this discussion, Emma believes that (public, private) transportation, like buses and trains, is better because it's (expensive, cheaper). She also mentioned that too many cars cause traffic and driving can be (stressful, relaxing). On the other hand, Jack believes that public transportation has limitations. For instance, it is not available everywhere, and some vehicles use (harmful, beneficial) fuels. He also mentioned that public transportation requires a lot of resources. Both options have pros and cons: public transportation is cheaper and (people-friendly, eco-friendly), but may not be available everywhere, while private transportation is (convenience, convenient) but expensive and can cause traffic. It's important to consider these factors when choosing how we (live, travel) and take care of our world.
