Let's Do

Write a report about

Hispaniolan
Solenodons.

Learn some information about Hispaniolan Solenodons!

Hispaniolan Solenodons are some of the most unique and rare mammals in the world. Solenodon looks like a cross between a large rat and a shrew. You can see it in the forests of Haiti and the Dominican Republic. The solenodon's body is 19 and 28 inches long and its tail is 10 inches long. It comes out at night to eat small animals, including insects, worms, and mice. Hispaniolan Solenodons smell like goats.

Let's Do

Finish a gathering grid with the information.
